

HONORABLE RICHARD A. JONES

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT SEATTLE

STEVE FOX and CHERIE FOX, husband and wife,

Plaintiffs,

v.

STATE FARM INSURANCE COMPANY,

Defendant.

CASE NO. C15-535RAJ

ORDER

I. INTRODUCTION

This matter comes before the Court on three motions: (1) Defendant State Farm Insurance Company's ("Defendant") Motion to Compel Rule 35 Examination (Dkt. # 19), (2) Plaintiffs Steve Fox and Cherie Fox's (collectively, "Plaintiffs") Motion to Amend Complaint (Dkt. # 23), and (3) Defendant's Motion for Protective Order (Dkt. # 38). For the reasons set forth below, the Court will GRANT Defendant's Motion to Compel Rule 35 Examination, DENY Plaintiffs' Motion to Amend, and GRANT Defendant's Motion for Protective Order as unopposed (Dkt. # 38).

II. BACKGROUND

The Court derives the following facts from the Plaintiffs' Complaint. Plaintiffs purchased an insurance policy from Defendant that included under-insured motorist ("UIM") coverage. See Dkt. # 5-1 ("Compl.") ¶ 4.1 That policy was in effective in August 2010 when Mr. Fox was involved in a car accident. See id. ¶¶ 4.1-4.2. That

1 accident was caused by another driver (see id. ¶¶ 4.2-4.4) and as a result, Mr. Fox claims
 2 injuries and Mrs. Fox claims loss of consortium (see id. ¶¶ 4.5-4.7). Plaintiffs claim that 3 because the damages Mr. Fox suffered exceeded the other driver’s liability policy limits,
 4 Defendant is liable for the full extent of Mr. Fox’s injuries within the limits of the policy.
 5 See id. ¶ 4.13.

6 III. LEGAL STANDARD

7 a. General Principles Governing Discovery

8 The Court has broad discretion to control discovery. Avila v. Willits Env’tl.
 9 Remediation Trust, 633 F.3d 828, 833 (9th Cir. 2011). That discretion is guided by 10 several principles. Most importantly, the scope of discovery is broad. “Parties may 11 obtain discovery regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party’s claim
 12 or defense.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). “Information within this scope of discovery need
 13 not be admissible in evidence to be discoverable.” Id. The Court, however, must limit 14 discovery where it is not “proportional to the needs of the case, considering the 15 importance of the issues at stake in the action, the amount in controversy, the parties’ 16 relative access to relevant information, the parties’ resources, the importance of the 17 discovery in resolving the issues, and whether the burden or expense of the proposed 18 discovery outweighs its likely benefit.” Id.

19 b. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 35 (“Rule 35”)

20 Rule 35 provides that a “court where the action is pending may order a party
 21 whose mental or physical condition--including blood group--is in controversy to submit 22 to a physical or mental examination by a suitably licensed or certified examiner.” “One 23 of the purposes of Rule 35 is to ‘level the playing field’ between parties in cases in which 24 a party’s physical or mental condition is in issue.” Ragge v. MCA/Universal Studios, 165 25 F.R.D. 605, 608 (C.D. Cal. 1995). Such an order: “(A) may be made only on motion for 26 good cause and on notice to all parties and the person to be examined; and (B) must 27

1 specify the time, place, manner, conditions, and scope of the examination, as well as the 2 person or persons who will perform it.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 35(a)(2).

3 Generally speaking, “Rule 35 examinations require an additional showing that the 4 matter be ‘in controversy’ and that ‘good cause’ exists for ordering the examination
 5 sought.” Houghton v. M & F Fishing, Inc., 198 F.R.D. 666, 667 (S.D. Cal. 2001) (citing 6 Schlagenhauf v. Holder, 379 U.S. 104, 117 (1964)). Additionally, “[b]ecause of the 7 intrusive nature of examinations, they are not granted as a matter of right, but rather as a
 8 matter of discretion.” Muller v. City of Tacoma, No. 14-CV-05743-RJB, 2015 WL
 9 3793570, at *2 (W.D. Wash. June 18, 2015) (citing Fed. R. Civ. P. 35(a); Coca-Cola
 10 Bottling Co. v. Negron Torres, 255 F.2d 149 (1st Cir. 1958)); Ligotti v. Provident Life &
 11 Cas. Ins. Co., 857 F. Supp. 2d 307, 318 (W.D.N.Y. 2011) (citing O’Quinn v. New York
 12 University Med. Ctr., 163 F.R.D. 226, 228 (S.D.N.Y. 1995)).

13 c. Motion for Leave to Amend

14 Ordinarily, in considering a motion for leave to amend, the Court applies the 15 liberal standard contained in Rule 15. See Fed. R. Civ. P. 15(a). However, where a party
 16 seeks leave to amend a pleading after the deadline for doing so set forth in the scheduling
 17 order, the Court applies the standard set forth in Rule 16. See Johnson v. Mammoth 18 Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 607-08 (9th Cir. 1992). Under Rule 16, “a schedule may 19 be modified only for good cause and with the judge’s consent.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 16(b)(4).

20 The “good cause” standard primarily considers the diligence of the party seeking 21 the amendment of the pretrial deadlines. Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609. A party 22 demonstrates good cause for the modification of a scheduling order by showing that, even 23 with the exercise of due diligence, he or she was unable to meet the timetable set forth in 24 the order. Zivkovic v. S. Cal. Edison Co., 302 F.3d 1080, 1087 (9th Cir. 2002). Although 25 the existence or degree of prejudice to the party opposing the modification might supply
 26 additional reasons to deny a motion, the focus of the inquiry is upon the moving party’s
 27 reasons for seeking modification. Johnson, 975 F.3d at 609.

IV. DISCUSSION

a. Defendant's Motion for Protective Order (Dkt. # 38)

The Court begins with Defendant's Motion for a Protective Order. Dkt. # 38. In that Motion, Defendant requests an order relieving it from providing certain discovery relating to Plaintiffs' extra-contractual claims. See id. As its basis, Defendant argues that those claims are not yet part of the lawsuit as Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to Amend has not yet been granted. See id. at 1-2. Defendant has also included a certification that it met and conferred with Plaintiffs in conformity with this Court's Local Rules. See Dkt. # 38-1 (Jensen Decl.) ¶ 1; Local Rules W.D. Wash. LCR 37(a)(1).

Plaintiffs have not filed an opposition. Pursuant to this Court's Local Rules, "if a party fails to file papers in opposition to a motion, such failure may be considered by the court as an admission that the motion has merit." See Local Rules W.D. Wash. LCR 7(d)(2).

The Court finds that granting Defendant's Motion is well warranted. The Rules currently provide that "Parties may obtain discovery regarding any nonprivileged matter that is relevant to any party's claim or defense and proportional to the needs of the case." Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(1). As Defendant rightly notes, discovery relating to Plaintiff's proposed bad faith and Washington Insurance Fair Conduct Act ("IFCA") claims is not relevant to this case as currently presented. See Compl. (alleging only breach of contract claim). Making this discovery even less relevant, as elaborated more fully below, is the fact that the Court will not give Plaintiffs leave to add these newly proposed claims.

Accordingly, the Court GRANTS Defendant's Motion for Protective Order. Dkt. # 38.

b. Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to Amend (Dkt. # 23)

Next, the Court addresses the Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to Amend. Dkt. # 23. Plaintiffs bring this motion under the auspices of Rule 15 (see Dkt. # 23 at 8-10), but as Defendant rightly notes (see Dkt. # 34 at 4-5), motions for leave to amend brought after

ORDER – 4

1 the deadline established in a scheduling order are governed by Rule 16(b) (see Johnson,
2 975 F.2d at 609; see also O’Connell v. Hyatt Hotels of Puerto Rico, 357 F.3d 152, 154-55
3 (1st Cir. 2004) (collecting cases)). Plaintiffs filed their Motion on December 4, 2015
4 (Dkt. # 23), but amended pleadings in this case were due 16 days before that – November
5 18, 2015 (Dkt. # 9). Under this standard, the Court “focuses on the reasonable diligence
6 of the moving party.” Noyes v. Kelly Servs., 488 F.3d 1163, 1174 n.6 (9th Cir. 2007)
7 (citing Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609); DZ Bank AG Deutsche Zentral-Genossenschaftsbank,
8 Frankfurt AM Main v. Choice Cash Advance, LLC, 918 F. Supp. 2d 1156, 1170 (W.D.
9 Wash. 2013).

10 Under the Rule 16(b) standard, “[t]he pretrial schedule may be modified ‘if it 11 cannot reasonably be met despite the diligence of the party seeking the extension.’”
12 Zivkovic, 302 F.3d at 1087 (quoting Johnson, 975 F.2d at 609). However, “[i]f the party 13 seeking the modification ‘was not diligent, the inquiry should end’ and the motion to 14 modify should not be granted.” Id.

15 The record makes clear that Plaintiffs were more than able to seek leave to amend 16 well before the deadline for doing so.

17 First, Plaintiffs themselves concede that they were prepared to amend their 18 Complaint to include IFCA claims as early as March 5, 2015. See Dkt. # 23 at 4; Dkt. #
19 24-16 (O’Halloran Decl.) Ex. 16 at 1-2. Plaintiffs claim, however, that they did not seek 20 to amend their Complaint earlier because they “relied on [Defendant’s] representations 21 that it had accepted all of [Mr. Fox’s] past economic damages.” See Dkt. # 23 at 6-7.

22 Based on this Court’s reading, much of Plaintiffs’ argument focuses on their 23 apparently mistaken or optimistic reliance on one of Defendant’s supposed
24 representations that it had accepted all of Mr. Fox’s past economic damages. See Dkt. #
25 23 at 6-7; Dkt. # 37 at 2. In other words, Plaintiffs contend that much of their strategy 26 thus far has been based on the belief that “his insurer had simply made a calculation 27 mistake” and that they “never anticipated this litigation would proceed past an initial

1 discovery period.” See Dkt. # 37 at 1. Alternatively, Plaintiffs contend that they declined
2 to amend their Complaint in reliance on continuing negotiations with Defendant. See
3 Dkt. # 23 at 5-7. Finally, Plaintiffs appear to argue that they were misled by case law
4 provided by Defendant’s counsel. See id. at 7.

5 Plaintiffs’ first argument is unavailing. Defendant’s March 24, 2015 letter
6 responding to Plaintiffs’ IFCA letter indicates that in making its initial evaluation of Mr.
7 Fox’s UIM claim it “relied on the opinion of family practice physician Jack Calabria,
8 DO, one of [Mr. Fox’s] treating physicians, and the result of its investigation.” See Dkt.
9 # 24-17 (O’Halloran Decl.) Ex. 17 at 1. However, Defendant’s letter does not 10 unequivocally state that Defendant simply “accepted” all of Mr. Fox’s past economic 11 damages. Read in context, the letter outlines (in significant detail) the evidence presented
12 and considered by Defendant in evaluating Mr. Fox’s claim and elaborates Defendant’s 13 position why the disagreement between the Parties did not give rise to an IFCA claim.
14 See id. at 4-7. More specifically, the only portion of the letter indicating that Defendant
15 “accepted all of Mr. Fox’s supported medical treatment and his past wage loss claim”
16 indicates that it was done so in the context of Defendant’s August 26, 2014 offer. See id.
17 at 7. In other words, it does not appear to this Court that Defendant “accepted” the 18 veracity and merits of all of Mr. Fox’s claimed damages, only that its evaluation of Mr.
19 Fox’s claim was premised upon accepting these as true. Additionally, the evidentiary 20 value of Defendant’s statement during settlement negotiations is questionable. Federal 21 Rule of Evidence 408(a) specifically states that “conduct or a statement made during 22 compromise negotiations about the claim” “is not admissible--on behalf of any party--
23 either to prove or disprove the validity or amount of a disputed claim.”

24 Plaintiffs’ reliance upon this purported representation, in this Court’s view, was 25 not reasonable.

26 Nevertheless, the Court proceeds to Plaintiffs’ second argument – that they 27 reasonably delayed in seeking leave to amend based upon their negotiations with

1 Defendant. See Dkt. # 23 at 5-7; Dkt. # 37 at 2. Numerous courts have found that
2 settlement negotiations do not constitute good cause to modify a case schedule. See e.g.,
3 Rybski v. Home Depot USA, Inc., No. CV-12-751-PHX-LOA, 2012 WL 5416586, at *2
4 (D. Ariz. Oct. 17, 2012) (“The parties’ settlement negotiations or mediation do not 5 constitute good cause to continue the Rule 16 deadlines.”); Lehman Bros. Holdings v.
6 Golden Empire Mortg., Inc., No. 1:09-CV-01018LJOJLT, 2010 WL 2679907, at *2 (E.D.
7 Cal. July 2, 2010) (“Here, the parties’ willingness to settle this case is admirable.
8 However, settlement discussions generally are not an ‘unanticipated’ development.”);
9 Irise v. Axure Software Sols., Inc., No. CV08-03601SJO JWJX, 2009 WL 3615973, at *3
10 (C.D. Cal. July 30, 2009) (“Although Axure attempts to blame its delay on ultimately 11 unsuccessful settlement negotiations that occurred between March 2009 and early May 12 2009, this is no excuse for Axure’s lack of diligence”). Even if Plaintiffs believed that 13 their settlement negotiations with Defendant would ultimately bear fruit and avoid more 14 protracted litigation, they still were under an obligation to seek leave to amend their 15 Complaint to add any claims they intended to pursue within the time dictated in the 16 scheduling order. Plaintiffs failed to do so and cannot blame unsuccessful settlement 17 negotiations for their lack of diligence.

18 Finally, Plaintiffs appear to contend that Defendant misled them to avoid seeking 19 leave to amend by pointing them to two cases, Smith v. State Farm, No. C12-1505-JCC, 20 2013 WL 1499265 (W.D. Wash. Apr. 11, 2013) and Zweber v. State Farm, 39 F. Supp.
21 3d 1161 (W.D. Wash. 2014), for the proposition that they could not seek leave to amend.
22 See Dkt. # 23 at 7. Plaintiffs correctly note that these cases do not actually stand for the 23 proposition that Plaintiffs could not seek leave to amend at that juncture; rather, they deal 24 with whether a plaintiff’s bad faith and related claims were barred by res judicata when 25 brought after final judgment in a state court proceeding. See Zweber, 39 F. Supp. 3d at 26 1165. Nevertheless, the Court is not persuaded by Plaintiffs’ argument for the simple fact 27 that even a quick look at these cases reveals that they do not deal with amendment of

1 pleadings. Plaintiffs cannot blame poorly cited case law as a basis for failing to diligently
2 seek leave to amend, especially when they had 9 days to read those cases and seek leave
3 to amend. See Dkt. # 24-23 (O'Halloran Decl.) Ex. 23 at 2. Simply put, Plaintiffs cannot 4 claim that they reasonably relied upon Defendant's cited case law as a reason for delay.

5 Ultimately, the Court finds that the most damaging fact to Plaintiffs' position is 6 that they failed to seek leave to amend on November 9, 2015, when Defendant 7 unequivocally repudiated any stipulation that it "accepted certain itemized medical 8 damages, wage loss damages, and general damages." See Dkt. # 36 (Aragon Decl.) Exs.
9 E at 2, F at 3 ("Accordingly, State Farm does not agree to the stipulation you request.").
10 At that point, Plaintiffs certainly knew that Defendant was renouncing the basis for 11 Plaintiffs' reason for not including their bad faith and IFCA claims. That point was still 9
12 days before the deadline for seeking leave to amend. See Dkt. # 9. Nevertheless, 13 Plaintiffs waited 25 days to seek leave to add these claims. See Dkt. # 23. That is not 14 reasonably diligent.

15 Because the Court finds that Plaintiffs were not diligent in seeking leave to amend, 16 its inquiry ends. See DZ Bank, 918 F. Supp. 2d at 1170 (quoting Johnson, 975 F.2d at 17 609). As a result, the Court need not consider prejudice to Defendant if leave to amend is 18 granted. Nevertheless, the Court will note that bad faith claims often involve the 19 presentation of expert evidence (see 35 Matthew King, Washington Insurance Law And 20 Litigation § 23:7 (2015-2016 ed.) ("the use of experts in bad faith litigation is 21 common.")) and allowing amendment at this juncture may necessitate additional 22 modifications to the expert discovery deadline.

23 Finally, the Court declines Plaintiffs' apparent invitation to parse through their 24 proposed amended complaint to identify "those damages claims that cannot possibly 25 prejudice State Farm." See Dkt. # 37 at 3. The focus of the inquiry was on Plaintiffs'
26 lack of reasonable diligence, not prejudice to Defendant.

1 Accordingly, the Court will DENY Plaintiffs' Motion for Leave to Amend. Dkt. #
2 23.

3 c. Defendant's Motion to Compel (Dkt. # 19)

4 Finally, the Court addresses Defendant's Motion to Compel Rule 35 Examination.
5 Dkt. # 19. Under Rule 35,¹ the Court "may order a party whose mental or physical 6 condition--including blood group--is in controversy to submit to a physical or mental 7 examination by a suitably licensed or certified examiner." Such an order: "(A) may be 8 made only on motion for good cause and on notice to all parties and the person to be 9 examined; and (B) must specify the time, place, manner, conditions, and scope of the 10 examination, as well as the person or persons who will perform it." Fed. R. Civ. P.
11 35(a)(2). Additionally, such motions are contingent on a showing that "the matter be 'in 12 controversy' and that 'good cause' exists for ordering the examination sought."
13 Houghton, 198 F.R.D. at 667 (citing Schlagenhauf, 379 U.S. at 117).

14 Defendant seeks to have Mr. Fox examined by an orthopedic surgeon, Alan 15 Brown, MD. See Dkt. # 19 at 1. Dr. Brown will opine on the cause of Mr. Fox's
16 injuries, the reasonableness of the care he has received to date, and a medical opinion
17 regarding Mr. Fox's future medical expenses and lost wages. See Dkt. # 31 at 2.
18 Defendant has attached a copy of Dr. Brown's curriculum vitae and it does not appear 19 that his qualifications or licensing are in dispute. See Dkt. # 20-10 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. J.

20 Moreover, it does not appear that Plaintiffs contest that they received adequate
21 notice of the Motion, as the Parties conferred on this issue for several weeks. See Dkt. #
22 20 (Aragon Decl.) Exs. B (letter dated November 5, 2015 formally requesting Rule 35 23 examination by Dr. Brown), C, E (emails discussing Rule 35 examination). In fact, the 24 Parties appeared to have exchanged correspondence regarding a stipulation to a Rule 35

25 _____
26 ¹ The Court notes that language in the policy already requires Mr. Fox to attend an examination.
27 See Dkt. # 20-9 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. I at 2 ("A person making claim under . . . Underinsured 28 Motor Vehicle Coverages . . . must . . . be examined as reasonably often as we may require by physicians chosen and paid by us. A copy of the report will be sent to the person upon written request.").

1 examination, which unfortunately was not completed. See id. Exs. F-H; Dkt. # 28
2 (O'Halloran Decl.) Exs. 3-4.

3 The Court begins with whether Mr. Fox has put his physical or mental condition in 4 controversy.² Defendant contends that there can be little question that Mr. Fox has put 5 his physical condition in controversy because he seeks payment of benefits for injuries
6 allegedly covered under his insurance policy's UIM coverage. See Dkt. # 19 at 4.
7 Additionally, Defendant notes that Mr. Fox is claiming future medical expenses and that 8 he has actually increased his estimate of those damages as discovery has gone on. See 9 Dkt. # 19 at 4-5; Dkt. # 31 at 2; compare Dkt. # 20-1 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. A at 12 with 10 Dkt. # 32-1 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. K at 2. Plaintiffs argue that Rule 35 exams are 11 inappropriate for past conditions and contend that Mr. Fox's condition is only a past 12 condition and not ongoing. See Dkt. # 27 at 6.

13 The Court has some difficulty understanding Plaintiffs' argument. The Complaint 14 alleges that Mr. Fox "has suffered severe injuries that are permanent, painful and 15 progressive, and had incurred, and may continue to incur, economic damages."³ Compl.
16 ¶ 4.5 (emphasis added). In fact, as Defendant rightly notes, Plaintiffs' discovery 17 materials indicate that Mr. Fox requires ongoing and future medical treatment for his 18 condition. See Dkt. # 20-1 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. A at 12 (estimating future medical 19 expenses of $25,000.00); Dkt. # 32-1 (Aragon Decl.) Ex. K at 2 (estimating future
20 medical expenses of not less than $50,000.00). The extent of those injuries is plainly 21 interrelated with Plaintiffs' breach of contract claim. Other courts have noted that "the 22 fact that plaintiff alleges numerous health-related injuries, sought treatment for these 23 injuries, and seeks damages for past and future medical expenses, puts plaintiff's mental 24 state 'genuinely in controversy.'" Bell v. U.S. Dep't of Interior, No. 2:12-CV-01414

25
26 ² Rather frustratingly, Plaintiffs bury their concession that Mr. Fox's physical condition is in 27 controversy at the tail end of their Opposition. See Dkt. # 27 at 9.

28 ³ "Economic damages" are defined as including "medical expenses." RCW 4.56.250(1)(a).
ORDER – 10

1 TLN, 2013 WL 4482907, at *8 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 19, 2013) (quoting Schlagenhauf, 379
2 U.S. at 118). Thus, even assuming that Plaintiffs' argument holds water, Mr. Fox is 3 plainly claiming an ongoing injury, subverting that argument.

4 Plaintiffs' cited cases are largely inapposite.⁴ Plaintiffs' most heavily relied upon
5 case, McLaughlin v. Atlantic City, No. CIV 05-2263 RMB, 2007 WL 1108527, at *3
6 (D.N.J. Apr. 10, 2007) found that an officer's mental health was in controversy even 7 though it was not necessarily ongoing – the moment in controversy was four years before
8 the case. The McLaughlin court found that good cause did not exist because the plaintiff
9 could not show that an IME of the officer's mental condition four years after the date
10 where that officer's mental condition was in controversy would be relevant. See id. The 11 court also noted that there were numerous other opinions provided about the officer's 12 mental condition in 2004, which supplied the same information sought. See id. at *4.
13 Similar to McLaughlin, the court in Holt v. Ayers, No. CV F-97-6210-AWI, 2006 WL
14 2506773, at *5 (E.D. Cal. Aug. 29, 2006) dealt with a requested mental exam 16 and 17
15 years after the points in which the plaintiff's mental condition was in controversy.

16 The Court finds that Mr. Fox has placed his physical condition in controversy.

17 Next, the Court turns to whether Defendant has established good cause for 18 ordering the Rule 35 exam. Courts have found that to demonstrate good cause, a party 19 must show that the examination will find specific facts relevant to the claim and to the 20

21 ⁴ In Kunstler v. City of New York, 242 F.R.D. 261, 263 (S.D.N.Y. 2007), the court held that the 22 defendants had not established good cause for a Rule 35 exam because some plaintiffs had all
23 testified their injuries healed within a period of one week to four months. Id. Here, Mr. Fox 24 claims that his injuries necessitate future medical treatment and are not entirely healed.

25 In Doe v. District of Columbia, 229 F.R.D. 24, 27-28 (D.D.C. 2005), the court granted a Rule 35
26 exam because the plaintiff, like Mr. Fox, claimed an ongoing injury, the medical records were 27 insufficient, and the doctor selected by the defendant was sensitive to the plaintiff's situation.

28 In Womack v. Stevens Transp., Inc., 205 F.R.D. 445, 447 (E.D. Pa. 2001), the court found that plaintiff had placed his physical and mental condition in controversy because his pleadings alleged he continued to suffer physical and mental injuries. The court also found good cause existed because the defendant would be forced to simply cross examine the plaintiff's experts' evaluations without the Rule 35 exam. Id.

1 defendant's case. See Ragge, 165 F.R.D. at 609. However, in determining whether good
2 cause exists, "[c]ourts must make fact-specific inquiries, and no one factor is dispositive,
3 even in cases with allegations of emotional or psychiatric harm." Muller, 2015 WL
4 3793570 at *2 (citing Duncan v. Upjohn Co., 155 F.R.D. 23 (D. Conn. 1994)).

5 Defendant has shown that such an examination will reveal facts relevant to the 6 claim and to its defense. Specifically, because the extent of its liability is in part tied to 7 the injuries Mr. Fox suffered, the reasonableness of his past medical treatment, the causes 8 of his medical conditions, and the prognosis and necessity of his future wage loss and 9 medical treatment is clearly relevant. Defendant certainly is entitled to independently
10 contest the amounts sought beyond simply cross-examining Plaintiffs' experts.

11 Plaintiffs contend, however, that good cause requires a showing that the 12 information sought is not available through other means. See Dkt. # 27 at 7. There is 13 some case authority standing for that proposition. See e.g., Pearson v. Norfolk-Southern 14 Ry., Co., Inc., 178 F.R.D. 580, 582 (M.D. Ala. 1998). This Court believes that the better
15 view is that this is simply a relevant factor, not an element of good cause. See Ayat v.
16 Societe Air France, No. C 06-1574 JSW JL, 2007 WL 1120358, at *6 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 16, 17 2007). In any event, Defendant has shown that it has conducted significant discovery 18 using other available means of discovery but have been unable to discover the facts they 19 intend Dr. Brown to determine. See Dkt. # 31 at 3. Defendant has met its burden, if any,
20 to show that this evidence is not available by other means.

21 In sum, the Court finds that both elements necessary to order a Rule 35 exam have 22 been established by Defendant. What remains is perhaps Plaintiffs' chief complaint: the 23 scope of the examination. Plaintiffs appear to contend that the exam should be limited 24 solely to evaluating Mr. Fox's current and future condition. See Dkt. # 27 at 9. The 25 Court disagrees. Mr. Fox has placed his past, present, and future physical condition in 26 controversy and Defendant is entitled to a Rule 35 exam to evaluate his claims pertaining 27 to his past treatment. That includes a determination as to causation – including an

1 intervening altercation alluded to by Defendant (see Dkt. # 31 at 4) – and the 2 reasonableness of such treatment. While Mr. Fox’s medical history may be strongly 3 probative of such facts, there is no reason to believe in this instance that they will be 4 conclusive.

5 V. CONCLUSION

6 In sum, the Court ORDERS as follows:

- 7 1. Defendant’s Motion for a Protective Order (Dkt. # 38) is GRANTED as 8 unopposed.
- 9 2. Plaintiffs’ Motion for Leave to Amend (Dkt. # 23) is DENIED as untimely and 10 for lack of good cause to amend the scheduling order.
- 11 3. Defendant’s Motion to Compel (Dkt. # 19) is GRANTED.
 - 12 a. The exam will be conducted by Alan Brown, MD. The Rule 35
 13 examination must be undertaken within 14 days of this Order.
 - 14 i. The Parties are to meet and confer within 3 days of this Order to 15 determine a mutually agreeable time and place for the Rule 35 16 exam.
 - 17 ii. The scope of the examination is limited solely to a physical exam 18 to evaluate the reasonableness of Mr. Fox’s past medical 19 treatment, the causation of his medical conditions, and the 20 prognosis and necessity of his future wage loss and medical 21 treatment.
 - 22 b. To alleviate prejudice to the Parties, the Court will permit a small
 23 extension to the discovery deadline solely to accommodate the Rule 35 24 examination.
 - 25 i. To alleviate any prejudice to the Plaintiffs, Plaintiffs are 26 permitted to retain and disclose a rebuttal expert and his report
 27 within 30 days after Dr. Brown supplies a Rule 35 report.

- ii. Defendant must make Dr. Brown available for a deposition at a mutually convenient time.
- iii. The Parties should not expect any other extensions to the discovery deadline.
